STEMI India's successful Hub and Spoke model - a blueprint for others?

Saving lives due to STEMI - or heart attacks - calls for a system of care that facilitates diagnosis-to-treatment protocols within a specific time window. STEMI India has developed an innovative and affordable system of care in response to this need - a system that has proven to be successful in shortening the time from diagnosis to treatment in a pilot study and soon to become the model for STEMI management in India... and beyond?
